INTRODUCTION

The present volume of the 1951 Census contains data relating to dwellings, households, and families. The volume is divided into two parts. Part I (Housing) consists of 126 tables of data relating to dwellings and households. These tables, for the most part, are developed from a twenty per cent sample of all dwellings. However, a complete count of dwellings was taken in conjunction with the enumeration of the population, and this was used as a basis for weighting the sample of housing data. Tables 1 to 5 inclusive are based on the complete enumeration; all other tables in Part I are developed from the sample. Part II (Families) contains 19 tables of family data based on the complete enumeration of the population.

A detailed account of the sampling procedure employed and other techniques used in gathering, processing, and tabulating the pertinent data, is found in the Administrative Report of the 1951 Census (Volume XI).

Classification by type of area.— In general, the tables in Volume III are presented for the following areas:

(a) Canada,
(b) the provinces,
(c) counties and census divisions,
(d) incorporated urban centres,
(e) census metropolitan areas.

Census divisions: Since there are no fixed political divisions in the four western provinces and Newfoundland corresponding to the counties of eastern Canada, permanent areas called census divisions were established in these provinces for the presentation of statistical data. Reference maps of counties and census divisions are shown in Appendix A.

Census metropolitan areas: For census purposes, metropolitan areas have been established for groups of urban communities in Canada which are in close economic, geographic, and social relationship. Maps showing the municipalities or parts thereof included in each of the census metropolitan areas are shown in Appendix A.

In many tables the figures for Canada and the provinces, and in a number of tables the figures for counties and census divisions, are further subdivided into rural farm, rural non-farm, and urban size groups.

Rural and urban: Prior to the 1951 Census, the population residing within the boundaries of incorporated cities, towns, and villages, regardless of size, was classified as "urban" and the remainder as "rural". In the 1951 Census the aggregate size of the population rather than provincial legal status was the main criterion for the rural-urban definition. The urban population in 1951 included all persons residing in cities, towns, and villages of 1,000 population and over, whether incorporated or not, as well as the population of all parts of census metropolitan areas. The 1951 rural-urban definition had the advantage of creating a uniform line of demarcation between the rural and urban population. This was not the case formerly, because of the varying laws of incorporation among the provinces.

Farm and non-farm: Dwellings, households, and families were classified as "farm" or "non-farm" depending upon whether or not they were situated within the boundaries of (or resident on) a farm. A farm, for census purposes, was defined as a holding on which agricultural operations were carried out and was:

(a) three acres or more in size, or
(b) from one to three acres in size with agricultural production in 1950 amounting to $250 or more.

INTRODUCTION

Le présent volume du Recensement de 1951 contient des données relatives aux logements, aux ménages et aux familles. Il est divisé en deux parties. La première (Logements) comprend 126 tableaux relatifs aux logements et aux ménages. Ces tableaux reposent en majeure partie sur un échantillon de vingt pour 100 de tous les logements. Cependant, le dénombrement complet des logements a été effectué en même temps que le recensement de la population et il a servi de base à la pondération de l'échantillon. Les tableaux 1 à 5 inclusifs sont fondés sur un dénombrement complet; tous les autres tableaux de la partie I sont tirés de l'échantillon. La partie II (Familles) comprend 19 tableaux de données sur la famille, reposant sur le dénombrement complet de la population.

Le détail de la méthode d'échantillonnage ainsi que des pratiques ayant servi à recueillir, dépouiller et analyser les données se trouve dans le Rapport administratif du recensement de 1951 (Volume XI).

Classement selon le genre de région.— En général, les tableaux du Volume III portent sur les régions suivantes:

a) Canada
b) Provinces
c) Comtés et divisions de recensement
d) Centres urbains constitués
e) Zones métropolitaines de recensement

Divisions de recensement: Comme il n'existe pas, dans les quatre provinces de l'Ouest et à Terre-Neuve, des divisions politiques fixes qui correspondent aux comtés de l'Est du Canada, des zones permanentes appelées divisions de recensement ont été délimitées dans ces provinces en vue de la publication des données statistiques. Des cartes de référence touchant les comtés et divisions de recensement sont comprises à l'Appendice A.

Zones métropolitaines de recensement: Pour les besoins du recensement, des zones métropolitaines ont été délimitées pour les groupes d'agglomérations urbaines du Canada qui sont en rapport étroit au point de vue économique, géographique et social. Les cartes indiquant les municipalités ou leurs parties comprises dans chacune des zones métropolitaines de recensement se trouvent à l'Appendice A.

Dans plusieurs tableaux, les chiffres du Canada et des provinces et, dans certains autres, ceux des comtés et des divisions de recensement, sont encore subdivisés par groupes de population rurale agricole, rurale non agricole, et urbaine selon l'importance numérique.

Population rurale et urbaine: Avant le recensement de 1951, la population habitant les cités, villes et villages constitués était classée "urbaine", indépendamment de son importance numérique, et le reste, "rurale". Au recensement de 1951, le principal critère qui a servi au classement de la population selon qu'elle était rurale ou urbaine a été l'importance numérique globale de la population plutôt que son statut juridique provincial. La population urbaine comprend en 1951 toutes les personnes habitant les cités, villes et villages constitués ou non de 1,000 habitants ou plus ainsi que la population de toutes les parties des zones métropolitaines de recensement. La définition de 1951 a pour avantage d'établir une ligne de démarcation uniforme entre la population rurale et la population urbaine, ce qui n'avait pu être réalisé encore, à cause de la diversité des lois qui régissent la constitution dans les provinces.

Agricole et non agricole: Les logements, les ménages et les familles ont été classés "agricoles" ou "non agricoles", suivant qu'ils étaient situés ou vivaient dans une ferme. Une ferme, pour les besoins du recensement, est une terre servant à l'exploitation agricole et ayant:

a) une superficie de trois acres ou plus ou
b) une superficie d'une à trois acres et une production agricole en 1950 de $250 ou plus.

In most tables in this volume, the figures for rural areas are classified into "farm" and "non-farm" on the basis of the definition given above. No such distribution of urban data is made, however, since in 1951 there were only 14,505 urban farm households in the whole of Canada.

Explanation of concepts used in the tables of this volume.— Many of the terms used in this volume, such as dwelling, household, and family, are in common use, but for statistical purposes they must be specifically defined. Although the definitions used for census purposes do not depart needlessly from common usage, they do point up certain aspects of the items being counted in more detail than is usually required for most other purposes. The following definitions are given for terms used in this volume, many of which are from the Enumeration Manual.

Dwelling: A dwelling was defined as a structurally separate set of living premises, with a private entrance from outside the building, or from a common hallway or stairway inside. The entrance was not to be through anyone else's living quarters. The terms "dwelling", "dwelling unit", and "home" are used interchangeably in this volume.

Structure: For census purposes, each separate structure:

(a) had to be completely separated on all sides from any other structure, or
(b) had to have a vertical wall or walls extending from ground to roof, completely dividing it from an adjoining structure or structures.

There is thus a slight difference in the meanings of "structure" and "building". In the case of a single house the two terms are synonymous; however, in the case of a semi-detached or "double" house, there is one building, but two structures.

Vacant dwelling: This was defined as a dwelling suitable for occupancy, but unoccupied at the time of the Census.

Dwelling under construction: For census purposes, a dwelling was defined as "under construction" from the time the foundation was begun until the first occupants moved in.

Types of dwellings: For census purposes, dwellings were classified into the following types:

(a) Single detached: This type of dwelling was defined as a house containing one dwelling unit, and completely separated on all sides from any other building, or structure. A "single detached" dwelling could have only one dwelling unit in the structure. Such a dwelling is commonly called a single house.

(b) Single attached: This was a dwelling which occupied an entire structure, that is, from ground to roof, and adjoined another structure (or structures) from which it was separated by a vertical wall (or walls) extending from ground to roof. For example, each half of a semi-detached or double house, or each section of a row of houses (or terrace) was classified as a single attached dwelling.

(c) Apartments and flats: These included the following:
(i) dwelling units in apartment blocks or apartment hotels;
(ii) suites in duplexes or triplexes, i.e., where the division between dwelling units is horizontal;
(iii) suites in structurally converted houses;
(iv) living quarters located above, or in the rear of stores, restaurants, garages, or other business premises;
(v) janitors' quarters in schools, churches, warehouses, etc.;
(vi) private quarters for families of staff members in hospitals or other types of institutions.

Dans la plupart des tableaux du volume, les chiffres des régions rurales sont partagés entre "agricole" et "non agricole", conformément à la définition donnée plus haut. Aucune répartition semblable n'est faite pour les données urbaines, toutefois, étant donné qu'en 1951 il n'y avait que 14,505 ménages urbains agricoles dans tout le Canada.

Explication des concepts employés dans les tableaux du volume.— Plusieurs des termes employés dans le volume, comme logement, ménage et famille sont d'usage courant; mais ils doivent, aux fins statistiques, être définis avec précision. Bien que, pour les besoins du récensement, les définitions ne s'écartent pas sans raison de l'usage courant, elles font ressortir certaines caractéristiques des objets de façon plus détaillée que ne l'exige la plupart des autres fins. Les définitions qui suivent sont celles des expressions ayant servi dans le présent volume et dont un bon nombre sont empruntées au Manuel de dénombrement.

Logement: Un logement a été ainsi défini: série de pièces d'habitation, distincte au point de vue de la structure, et qui a son entrée particulière de l'extérieur de la maison ou sur un corridor ou un escalier communs à l'intérieur. L'entrée ne doit pas passer par les pièces d'habitation d'une ou d'autres personnes. Les termes "logement", "unité de logement" et "foyer" sont employés alternativement dans le présent volume.

Structure: Pour les fins du recensement, chaque structure séparée devait:

a) être complètement détachée sur tous ses côtés de toute autre construction, ou
b) être entièrement séparée par un ou des murs verticaux, du sol au toit, de tout édifice ou de toute construction avoisinante.

Entre "structure" et "édifice", le sens diffère donc légèrement. Dans le cas d'une maison seule, les deux termes sont synonymes; toutefois, dans le cas d'une maison semi-détachée ou "jumelée", il y a un édifice et deux structures.

Logement vacant: Logement habitable mais inhabité au moment du recensement.

Logement en construction: Pour les besoins du recensement, un logement a été défini "en construction" à compter du moment où les fondations sont commencées jusqu'à celui où les premiers occupants y font leur entrée.

Genres de logements: Pour les besoins du recensement, les logements ont été classés selon les genres suivants:

a) Logement unique-maison seule: Ce genre de logement a été défini: maison seule à logement unique, complètement séparée sur toutes ses faces de tout autre édifice ou de toute autre construction. Un logement "unique-maison seule" ne peut contenir dans sa structure qu'une seule unité de logement. Ce genre de logement est ordinairement appelé maison seule.

b) Logement unique-maison attenante: Logement occupant une structure toute entière, c'est-à-dire de la cave au toit, qui est attenante à une ou à d'autres structures et qui en est séparée par un ou des murs verticaux allant de la cave au toit. Par exemple, chaque moitié d'une maison semi-détachée ou jumelée, ou chaque section d'une rangée de maisons ou terrasse a été classée comme un logement unique-maison attenante.

c) Appartements et plain-pied: Ceux-ci comprennent:
(i) les unités de logement dans des maisons d'appartements ou hôtels d'appartements;
(ii) les suites de pièces en enfilade dans des duplex ou des triplex, c'est-à-dire que la division entre les unités de logement est horizontale;
(iii) les suites de pièces en enfilade dans des maisons dont la structure a été transformée;
(iv) les quartiers d'habitation au-dessus ou à l'arrière de magasins, restaurants, garages ou autres locaux d'affaires;
(v) les logis des concierges dans les écoles, les églises, les entrepôts, etc.;
(vi) les pièces réservées à la famille de membres du personnel des hôpitaux ou d'institutions d'autres genres.

(d) Other: Into this category were placed all the unusual types of dwellings, such as houseboats, trailers, tents, cabins, railway cars, etc. The distinguishing feature of this type of dwelling is that, in general, it is designed only for makeshift or temporary accommodation and was counted as a dwelling only if it were occupied by a person or persons who had no other usual residence.

Special types of living quarters: The dwelling types defined above comprise the ordinary private dwellings in which the bulk of the population reside. However, at June 1, 1951 approximately 421,000 persons lived in dormitory or institutional types of dwellings. These included hospitals, nursing homes, orphanages, homes for the aged, welfare institutions, penal institutions, convents, monasteries, Hutterite colonies, hotels, clubs, large lodging houses, military and industrial camps. Tables 1, 2 and 3 provide figures for all occupied dwellings including the above types, while the data in Tables 4 to 126 relate only to private dwellings.

Tenure: Dwellings were classified as owner-occupied or tenant-occupied depending upon whether "the home was owned or rented by the head of the household or a member of his immediate family". A home was considered as owned even if there were a mortgage or other encumbrances. Dwellings in which the head was provided with free living quarters, whether or not in return for services rendered, were considered as tenant-occupied.

Monthly rent: Tenant-occupied non-farm dwellings were classified according to the amount of cash rent paid or payable for the month of May, 1951. Where two or more families or individuals living in the same dwelling paid rent separately to the landlord, the total payment made by all was taken as the rent for the dwelling.

Mortgages: The reporting of mortgages was limited to owner-occupied non-farm dwellings. A dwelling was considered mortgaged if there were debts secured by mortgages, agreements for sale, deeds of trust, judgments, or any other legal instrument partaking of the nature of a mortgage. A debt secured by liens on furniture, etc., was not considered as a mortgage.

Principal exterior material: This was defined as the principal visible material used in the wall of the structure. Where one type of material was used for walls of the ground floor and another for those of the upper stories of a house, that used for the ground floor was taken as the principal material.

Major repair: A dwelling was considered in need of major repair if it possessed any one of the following defects:

(a) sagging or rotting foundations, indicated by cracked or leaning walls;
(b) faulty roof or chimney;
(c) unsafe outside steps or stairways;
(d) interior badly in need of repair—that is, large chunks of plaster missing from walls or ceiling.

It is recognized that a question concerning state of repair lends itself to considerable subjective interpretation. For this reason a greater degree of tolerance must be applied to the answers to a question of this nature than, say, to a question on number of rooms. However, it is reasonable to assume that the statistics from the 1941 and 1951 censuses are sufficiently comparable to provide a useful basis of comparison.

Rooms: Only rooms used or suitable for living purposes, including those occupied by servants, lodgers, or members of lodging families, were counted as rooms in a dwelling. The following were not counted as rooms: bathrooms, pantries, halls, clothes closets, and rooms used solely for business purposes. Summer kitchens, sunrooms, rooms in basements and attics were not counted unless they were occupied as living quarters throughout the year. "Kitchenettes" were included if used for normal kitchen functions,

d) Autres: Sont placés dans cette catégorie tous les genres inusités de logement tels que: bateaux-maisons, remorques, tentes, cabines, wagons, etc. Le trait distinctif de ce genre de logement c'est qu'en général il ne représente qu'un aménagement provisoire ou temporaire et il n'est compté comme logement que lorsqu'il est occupé par une personne ou des personnes qui n'avaient pas d'autre domicile ordinaire.

Genres particuliers d'habitations: Les genres de logement définis ci-dessus comprennent les logements privés ordinaires habités par la masse de la population. Toutefois, au 1er juin 1951, près de 421,000 personnes vivaient dans des dortoirs ou dans des logements d'institutions, y compris hôpitaux, maisons de convalescence, orphelinats, refuges pour vieillards, institutions de bienfaisance, établissements pénals, couvents, monastères, colonies hutterites, hôtels, clubs, grandes maisons de chambres, camps militaires et chantiers. Les tableaux 1, 2 et 3 donnent des chiffres touchant tous les logements occupés, y compris les genres ci-dessus, tandis que les données des tableaux 4 à 126 n'ont trait qu'aux logements privés.

Mode d'occupation: Les logements ont été classés comme occupés par leurs propriétaires ou occupés par des locataires, suivant que "la maison appartenait ou était louée par le chef de ménage ou un membre de sa famille immédiate". La maison était considérée comme possédée même si elle était hypothéquée ou grevée d'autre façon. Les logements où le chef était pourvu gratuitement de pièces d'habitation, soit ou non en retour de services rendus, étaient considérés comme occupés par des locataires.

Loyer mensuel: Les logements non agricoles occupés par des locataires ont été classés d'après le montant du loyer payé ou payable en argent pour le mois de mai 1951. Lorsque deux familles ou plus ou deux personnes ou plus vivant dans le même logement payaient le loyer séparément au propriétaire, le montant total était inscrit comme loyer du logement.

Hypothèques: La déclaration d'hypothèques ne visait que les logements non agricoles occupés par leurs propriétaires. Un logement était considéré hypothéqué lorsque des dettes étaient contractées par hypothèques, contrats de vente, actes fiduciaires, jugements, ou tout autre acte légal tenant de l'hypothèque. Une dette contractée par privilège sur ameublement, etc., n'était pas considérée comme une hypothèque.

Principal matériau extérieur: Le principal matériau visible du mur extérieur de la structure. Lorsqu'un genre de matériau a été employé pour les murs du rez-de-chaussée et un autre pour ceux des étages, le matériau employé au rez-de-chaussée est considéré comme le matériau principal.

Besoin de réparations importantes: Un logement est déclaré comme ayant besoin de réparations importantes s'il présente une des défectuosités suivantes:

a) fondations fléchissantes ou pourrissantes révélées par les murs lézardés ou penchés;
b) toit ou cheminée défectueux;
c) marches ou escaliers extérieurs dangereux;
d) intérieur ayant grandement besoin de réparations, soit grandes plaques de plâtre détachées des murs et du plafond.

On reconnaît que la question concernant l'état de la maison prête beaucoup à l'interprétation personnelle. Pour cette raison, on doit accepter avec plus d'indulgence les réponses aux questions de cette nature que celles qui touchent, par exemple, une question relative au nombre de pièces. Cependant, on peut raisonnablement supposer que la statistique des recensements de 1941 et de 1951 est suffisamment identique pour offrir une base utile de comparaison.

Pièces: Seules les pièces habitées ou habitables, y compris les chambres des serviteurs, des chambreurs ou des membres de familles chambreuses sont comptées dans le logement. Les pièces suivantes ne comptent pas comme pièces d'habitation: salles de bain, garde-manger, corridors, placards et pièces servant uniquement à des fins commerciales. Les cuisines d'été, les solariums, les pièces du soubassement et du grenier ne comptent que si elles servent de quartiers d'habitation toute l'année. Les "cuisinettes" sont comprises lorsqu'elles and contained, as a minimum, cooking facilities (such as stove or range) and a sink or tub.

Water supply: For census purposes, piped water was defined as water the flow of which could be controlled by means of a tap. Water from a hand pump located within the dwelling was not considered as piped running water. "Inside" means inside the dwelling unit.

Bath facilities: "Installed" bath or shower facilities were those operated from a piped water source and controlled by a tap and drain.

Shared use of facilities: Shared use of bath or toilet facilities means shared with another household, and does not extend to cases where the facilities are used in common by members of the family and lodgers or servants within the same household. For example, where common toilet facilities were provided for a group of dwellings, as in some types of low-cost emergency housing projects, each dwelling was considered as having shared use of toilet facilities.

Lighting facilities:

(a) "Electricity (Power line source)" refers to cases where the electricity was conveyed by transmission lines from a central generating source serving the community.

(b) "Electricity (Home generated source)" covers all cases where the dwelling was lighted by electricity generated on the property.

Refrigeration facilities: These facilities were classified as mechanical (electric or gas), ice box, and other. The category "other" included spring houses, well coolers, and ice houses with storage space for perishable foods. It did not, however, include such sources of refrigeration as window boxes for winter use, root cellars, open springs, and basements.

Cooking facilities: The type of range or stove on which the household did most of its cooking was reported. "Other miscellaneous types" included small grills and burners, cookers, fireplaces, etc., as well as dwellings with no cooking facilities, such as may be found in apartment hotels.

Heating equipment: Respondents were asked to state the principal heating equipment in use in the dwelling, and any secondary or supplementary source of heating. It was stipulated, however, that the supplementary heating equipment must be used primarily for heating purposes. A cook stove which supplied heat incidentally, or a fireplace used mainly for ornamental purposes, was not classified as supplementary heating equipment.

Provision was made on the housing document for "central heating plant" as one type of heating equipment. It was the intention that this category be limited to homes heated from a central outside source. In the city of Winnipeg, for example, 4,785 dwellings were reported with this form of heating.

Central heating as defined above is relatively new in Canada, being found only in certain sections of a few cities. Probably due to this fact, some enumerators interpreted it to mean a furnace located in the basement of an apartment building and supplying heat to all the dwelling units in the building. In view of the small number of dwellings with "central heating" and because of occasional misinterpretation of this type of heating equipment on the part of some enumerators, figures for central heating and furnace heating have been combined in the relevant tables of this volume.

Principal heating fuel: This was defined as the chief fuel used in the principal heating equipment. "Gas" included all types of gas but did not include gasoline.

servent de cuisines ordinaires et renferment, au minimum, les aménagements nécessaires à la cuisson (soit poêle ou cuisinière) et un évier ou une cuve.

Service d'eau: Pour les besoins du recensement, l'eau avec tuyau est celle dont le débit est réglé par un robinet. L'eau provenant d'une pompe à main dans le logement n'est pas considérée comme eau courante avec tuyaux. "A l'intérieur" signifie à l'intérieur du logement.

Commodités de bain: Baignoire ou douche "installée" sont celles qui sont rattachées à un tuyau muni d'un robinet et d'un tuyau d'écoulement.

Usage partagé de certaines commodités: L'usage partagé des aménagements de bain et de toilette signifie partagé avec un autre ménage et ne s'applique pas lorsque les aménagements sont utilisés en commun par les membres de la famille et des chambreurs et serviteurs faisant partie du ménage. Ainsi, lorsque les aménagements de toilette sont au service commun d'un groupe de logements, comme dans certains genres d'habitations provisoires à bon marché, chaque logement était considéré comme ayant l'usage partagé des aménagements de toilette.

Éclairage:

a) "Électricité (provenant d'une ligne extérieure)" a trait à l'éclairage fourni par des lignes de transmission d'une centrale génératrice qui dessert la collectivité.

b) "Électricité (générée à la maison)" s'applique à tous les cas où le logement est éclairé par l'électricité générée sur la propriété.

Réfrigération: Ces aménagements sont classés comme mécaniques (électriques ou gaz), glacière, et autres. La catégorie "autres" comprend les sources recouvertes, les puits, et les glacières avec espace pour l'entreposage des comestibles périssables. Elle ne comprend pas cependant les sources de réfrigération comme les caisses installées sur les fenêtres en hiver, les caves pour plantes-racines, les sources non recouvertes et les soubassements.

Commodités de cuisson: Le genre de cuisinière ou de poêle qui sert au ménage à faire la plus grande partie de sa cuisson a été déclaré. "Autres genres et divers" comprend les petits grils et brûleurs, les fourneaux, les foyers, etc., de même que les logements sans commodités de cuisson, comme il peut s'en trouver dans les hôtels d'appartements.

Appareils de chauffage: Les répondants devaient déclarer le principal appareil de chauffage utilisé dans le logement et toute source supplémentaire ou accessoire de chauffage. Il était cependant précisé que l'appareil supplémentaire de chauffage devait servir principalement au chauffage. Un poêle de cuisine qui ne fournissait la chaleur qu'incidemment, ou un foyer simplement ornemental n'était pas classé comme appareil supplémentaire de chauffage.

Le document-logement consacrait un espace au "système de chauffage central" parmi les appareils de chauffage. Cette catégorie ne devait viser que les maisons chauffées par un système central extérieur. Dans la ville de Winnipeg, par exemple, 4,785 logements ont été déclarés pourvus de ce mode de chauffage.

Le chauffage central, ainsi qu'il est défini ci-dessus, est relativement récent au Canada et ne se trouve que dans certains secteurs de quelques rares villes. Pour cette raison probablement, certains agents recenseurs l'ont interprété comme signifiant une fournaise installée dans le soubassement d'une maison d'appartements et dispensant la chaleur à tous les logements de l'édifice. Étant donné le petit nombre de logements ayant le "chauffage central" et à cause de l'interprétation parfois inexacte de ce genre d'appareil, de la part de certains agents recenseurs, les chiffres du chauffage central et du chauffage à la fournaise ont été réunis dans les tableaux appropriés du présent volume.

Principal combustible de chauffage: Le principal combustible employé dans le principal appareil de chauffage. "Gaz" comprend tous les genres de gaz mais non la gazoline.

Living conveniences: The data on living conveniences relate to the number of households possessing washing machines, telephones, radios, vacuum cleaners, or passenger automobiles and do not represent the number of these articles. Washing machines or telephones provided for the common use of tenants in a multiple dwelling structure were credited to the owner, provided he lived in the building. "Radio" means a house radio—not a car radio.

Household: A "household" for census purposes was defined as a person or group of related or non-related persons occupying one dwelling unit.

Household head: For census purposes, there must be a head to each household. The person chiefly responsible for the maintenance of the household was normally considered as "head". When husband and wife or parents and unmarried children were living in the same household, the husband was reported as "head", and the parent rather than an unmarried child. When brothers and sisters comprised a household, usually the eldest was reported as "head". When a household consisted of several unrelated persons who shared housekeeping facilities, one of them was arbitrarily chosen as "head". In hotel and institutional households the officer in charge, provided he fulfilled the residence requirements—otherwise a resident member of the staff, was "head". If the household consisted entirely of guests, lodgers, patients, or inmates, one was designated arbitrarily as "head".

Year of occupancy: This was the period during which the head of the household first occupied the dwelling and resided continuously therein.

Crowded dwelling (crowded household): For census purposes, a crowded dwelling (household) was defined as one in which the number of persons exceeded the number of rooms occupied.

Family: A family, for census purposes, consisted of husband and wife (with or without children) or a parent with an unmarried child (or children) living together in the same dwelling.

Normal family: A family in which the husband and wife were living together with or without children was defined as a "normal family".

Normal family household: This was defined as a one-family household, the head of which was also head of a normal family.

Types of families: In the 1951 Census, families were classified into two groups,—"maintaining own household", and "not maintaining own household". The former consisted of families whose head was both head of a family and head of a household; and the latter of families whose head was not the head of a household. The families which did not maintain their own households were further divided into two groups, "related" and "non-related". The related families were those whose head was related to the head of the household by blood or marriage. The non-related families, although mainly lodging families, included the families of married servants.

Children in families: For census purposes unmarried sons and daughters 24 years of age and under living with their parents were classified as children. Unmarried sons and daughters 25 years of age and over living with their parents were counted as family members but not as children. Married sons (or daughters) were not considered as members of the parents' family, whether or not they continued to live with the parents.

Stepchildren and adopted children have been given the status of children in all tables of this volume. Guardianship children or wards, under 21 years of age, have been given the same status. Many of the families with single "head" consist of guardianship children living with an unmarried relative, such as an uncle or an aunt.

Commodités de confort: Les données sur les commodités de confort portent sur le nombre de ménages possédant lessiveuse, téléphone, radio, aspirateur ou automobile de tourisme et ne représentent pas le nombre de ces articles. Les lessiveuses et les téléphones mis au service commun des locataires dans les maisons à plusieurs logements sont attribués au propriétaire, pourvu qu'il vive dans la maison. "Radio" signifie un appareil de maison et non d'automobile.

Ménage: Un "ménage", pour les besoins du recensement, a été défini: une personne ou un groupe de personnes apparentées ou non apparentées occupant une unité de logement.

Chef de ménage: Pour les besoins du recensement, il faut un chef pour chaque ménage. La personne principalement responsable de l'entretien du ménage est ordinairement considérée comme le "chef". Lorsque l'époux et l'épouse ou les parents et leurs enfants non mariés vivent dans un même ménage, l'époux est déclaré "chef" et le parent plutôt que l'enfant non marié. Lorsque des frères et soeurs composent le ménage, c'est ordinairement l'aîné qui est déclaré "chef". Lorsqu'un ménage se compose de plusieurs personnes non apparentées qui partagent les commodités ménagères, l'une d'entre elles est arbitrairement choisie comme "chef". Dans les ménages d'hôtel ou d'institution, le directeur, s'il répond aux conditions de résidence exigées ou, à défaut, un membre résidant du personnel est "chef". Si le ménage se compose entièrement de visiteurs, chambreurs, malades ou détenus, l'un d'entre eux est arbitrairement désigné comme "chef".

Année d'occupation: La période durant laquelle le chef du ménage est entré dans le logement pour y demeurer en permanence.

Logement encombré (ménage encombré): Pour les besoins du recensement, un logement ou un ménage encombré est celui où le nombre de personnes est plus élevé que le nombre de pièces occupées.

Famille: Aux fins du recensement, la famille comprend l'époux et l'épouse (avec ou sans enfants) ou l'un des deux avec un ou plusieurs enfants non mariés et vivant ensemble sous le même toit.

Famille normale: Une famille dont l'époux et l'épouse vivent ensemble avec ou sans enfants est définie "famille normale".

Ménage de famille normale: Ménage d'une famille dont le chef est également chef d'une famille normale.

Types de familles: Dans le recensement de 1951, les familles sont réparties en deux groupes: "maintenant leur propre ménage" et "ne maintenant pas leur propre ménage". Les premières sont les familles dont le chef est à la fois chef de famille et chef de ménage; et, les dernières, les familles dont le chef n'est pas chef de ménage. Les familles qui ne maintiennent pas leur propre ménage sont de nouveau subdivisées en deux groupes: "apparentées" et "non apparentées". Les familles apparentées sont celles dont le chef est apparenté au chef de ménage par les liens du sang ou par alliance. Les familles non apparentées, en majeure partie familles chambreuses, comprennent les familles de serviteurs mariés.

Enfants dans les familles: Pour les besoins du recensement, les fils et les filles non mariés, âgés de 24 ans et moins et vivant avec leurs parents, sont classés comme enfants. Les fils et filles non mariés, âgés de 25 ans et plus et vivant avec leurs parents, sont comptés comme membres de la famille mais non comme enfants. Les fils ou filles mariés ne sont pas considérés comme des membres de la famille de leurs parents, qu'ils vivent ou non avec eux.

Les beaux-fils et belles-filles et les enfants adoptifs sont classés avec les enfants dans les tableaux du présent volume. Les enfants en tutelle ou pupilles, âgés de moins de 21 ans, le sont également. Plusieurs des familles dont le chef est célibataire se composent d'enfants en tutelle vivant avec un parent non marié, soit un oncle ou une tante.

Children 14 to 24 years of age in families were classified according to their activity as "attending school", "in the labour force", or "neither". A son (or daughter) was classified as in the labour force, if he reported an occupation during the week ending June 2, 1951, and his "usual" activity was not recorded as "student". If, however, he reported his usual activity as "student", he was classified in the family tables as "attending school", even though he may have reported himself as "working" during the week ending June 2, 1951. This has a direct bearing on the number of college students, many of whom, no doubt, had summer jobs during that week. Such students would be shown in the family tables as "attending school", provided they reported their usual activity as "student".

Lodger: For census purposes, a lodger was defined as a member of a household, other than a relative or employee of the "head", who generally contributed a specified amount for his living quarters. Members of lodging families were also counted as lodgers.

Marital status: Each person enumerated was placed, according to his marital status, into one of four categories—single, married, widowed, or divorced. A further classification of the married was made into two categories—those married and living together, and those married but not living together.

Years of schooling: This refers to the total number of school years the person attended any kind of educational institution beyond kindergarten, such as elementary school, secondary school, college or university. Private study and part-time attendance at classes counted for the equivalent number of years of formal schooling.

Origin: For census purposes, a person's origin was traced through the father's lineage. The origin was determined by asking the language spoken by the person, or by his paternal ancestor, when he first came to this continent.

Labour force: In the 1951 Census, the labour force was defined to include all persons 14 years of age and over, who, during the week ending June 2, 1951:

(a) worked for pay or profit or did unpaid work that contributed to the running of a farm or business operated by a member of the household;

(b) had jobs but did not work because of illness, bad weather, vacation, industrial dispute, or temporary layoff with definite instructions to return to work within 30 days of the time of being laid off;

(c) were without jobs and were seeking work during the week. This category included those who would have looked for work except that they were temporarily ill, were on indefinite or prolonged layoff, or believed that no work was available.

Wage or salary earner: A wage or salary earner was defined as a person who worked for wages, salary, piece rates, commissions, tips, payment in kind, or board and room.

Wage-earner household (or family): A wage-earner household (or family) was defined as one in which the "head" was a wage or salary earner.

Changes in census definitions: The term "dwelling" has had essentially the same meaning in every census since 1936. The term "household" however, has undergone an important change in meaning since 1941 when a household was defined as "a person or group of persons living in one housekeeping community". Under that definition two or more households could occupy the same dwelling, provided they maintained separate housekeeping arrangements. The term "sub-tenant household" was used to describe any additional households in the dwelling. In the 1951 Census a household included all persons living in one dwelling unit. This relates the household to the dwelling in such a way that the count

Les enfants âgés de 14 à 24 ans dans les familles ont été classés suivant leur activité comme "fréquentant l'école", "faisant partie de la main-d'oeuvre", ou "ni l'un ni l'autre". Un fils (ou une fille) est classé avec la main-d'oeuvre s'il a déclaré une occupation durant la semaine terminée le 2 juin 1951 et que son activité "habituelle" n'est pas "étudiant". Si, toutefois, il a déclaré "étudiant" comme son activité ordinaire, il est classé dans les tableaux des familles comme "fréquentant l'école", même s'il a dit avoir travaillé durant la semaine terminée le 2 juin 1951. Cela a une portée directe sur le nombre d'étudiants dont plusieurs, sans doute, ont tenu un emploi d'été durant cette semaine. Ces étudiants ont été inclus dans les tableaux des familles comme "fréquentant l'école", s'ils ont déclaré leur activité ordinaire comme "étudiant".

Chambreur: Pour les besoins du recensement, un chambreur est défini comme un membre du ménage, autre qu'un parent ou un employé du "chef", qui contribue en général un montant fixe pour les pièces qu'il habite. Les membres des familles chambreuses sont également comptés comme chambreurs.

État matrimonial: Chaque personne recensée a été classée, suivant son état matrimonial, dans l'une de quatre catégories suivantes: célibataire, marié(e), veuf ou veuve ou divorcé(e). Les personnes mariées ont été de nouveau réparties en deux catégories: celle des personnes mariées vivant ensemble et celle des personnes mariées ne vivant pas ensemble.

Années d'école: Ceci s'applique au nombre global d'années que la personne a fréquenté une maison d'enseignement après le jardin d'enfance, soit: école primaire ou élémentaire, école secondaire, collège ou université. Les études privées et la fréquentation à temps discontinu comptent comme pour le nombre d'années d'études régulières auxquelles elles correspondent.

Origine: Pour les besoins du recensement, l'origine d'une personne est retracée par celle du père. L'origine est déterminée par la langue parlée par la personne ou par l'ancêtre paternel lorsqu'il est arrivé sur le continent.

Main-d'oeuvre: La main-d'oeuvre, telle qu'elle est définie dans le recensement de 1951, comprend toutes les personnes de 14 ans et plus qui, durant la semaine terminée le 2 juin 1951:

a) travaillaient pour un salaire ou un profit ou sans rémunération à l'exploitation d'une ferme ou d'une entreprise du ménage;

b) avaient un emploi mais qui n'ont pas travaillé, pour cause de maladie, d'intempérie, de vacances, de différend ouvrier ou de congédiement temporaire avec instructions précises de retourner au travail dans les 30 jours du congédiement;

c) étaient sans emploi mais en quête de travail durant la semaine. Cette catégorie comprend les personnes qui auraient cherché du travail sans l'empêchement d'une maladie de courte durée, d'un congédiement de durée indéfinie ou de longue durée, ou la pensée qu'il n'y avait pas de travail.

Salarié (à gages ou à salaire): Un employé à gages ou à salaire est ainsi défini: toute personne qui a travaillé pour des gages, un salaire, à la pièce, à commission, pour des pourboires ou pour une rémunération en nature ou sa chambre et sa pension.

Ménage (ou famille) de salarié: Soit un ménage ou une famille dont le "chef" est un salarié.

Changements de définitions du recensement: Le terme "logement" a conservé essentiellement le même sens à chacun des recensements depuis 1936. Le sens du terme "ménage" a toutefois subi des modifications importantes depuis 1941, alors qu'un ménage était défini: "une personne ou un groupe de personnes vivant dans une unité ménagère". En vertu de cette définition, deux ménages ou plus pouvaient occuper le même logement, pourvu que leur aménagement ménager fût distinct. Le terme "ménage sous-locataire" était employé pour décrire tous les ménages supplémentaires habitant le logement. Dans le recensement de 1951, un ménage se composait de toutes les personnes vivant dans une unité de logement. Le ménage se of households and the count of occupied dwellings is identical. The effect of this change has been to increase the numerical importance of the "lodging family", since many family groups which, in 1941, were treated as "sub-tenant households", were designated as lodging families in the 1951 Census.

The determination of whether or not separate dwelling and household status should be assigned to separate living quarters in houses has been a major source of difficulty in census enumeration. This arises because houses which were originally constructed for one family, have come to house several families. These changes usually mean some expansion of facilities but no major structural change. The criterion of structural separateness for each dwelling depends upon the fact that the entrance to a dwelling must be direct and not through the living quarters of another person or group of persons. In borderline cases the interpretation of this criterion was to some extent a matter of individual judgment on the part of the enumerator. The elimination of the sub-tenant household has made the application of the rule for structural separateness more difficult for the enumerator to follow. There appears to be no doubt that some enumerators incorrectly counted a number of lodgers or lodging families as separate households and thereby increased the total number of households or occupied dwellings. It is, therefore, probable that the figures of occupied dwellings in the tables that follow include a small percentage of cases which do not conform strictly to the 1951 Census definition. This particularly affected the 1951 figures for apartments and flats. There seems little doubt that a portion of the increase in the number of apartments and flats between the 1941 and 1951 censuses has been due to this change in the interpretation.

trouve ainsi uni au logement de façon que le comptage des ménages et le comptage des logements occupés est le même. Ce changement a eu pour effet d'augmenter l'importance numérique de la "famille chambreuse", étant donné que plusieurs groupes familiaux qui, en 1941, étaient considérés comme "ménages sous-locataires" ont été classés comme familles chambreuses dans le recensement de 1951.

Le soin de déterminer si oui ou non le statut distinct de logement et de ménage devait être attribué aux quartiers d'habitation particuliers dans les maisons a été une des principales sources de difficulté du recensement. Cela tient à ce que des maisons qui avaient d'abord été construites pour une famille sont devenues l'habitation de plusieurs familles. Ces changements signifient d'habitude une expansion des aménagements mais aucune modification importante de la structure. Un logement est séparé d'un autre au point de vue de la structure si l'entrée y est directe sans passer par les pièces d'habitation d'une autre personne ou d'un groupe de personnes. Dans les cas indécis, l'interprétation de ce détail était laissée à l'agent recenseur. L'élimination du ménage sous-locataire a compliqué la règle de séparation structurale pour l'agent recenseur. Certains agents ont sans doute compté à tort un certain nombre de chambreurs ou de familles chambreuses comme ménages distincts et ont ainsi augmenté le nombre total de ménages ou de logements occupés. Il est donc probable que les chiffres relatifs aux logements occupés, dans les tableaux qui suivent, comprennent un petit pourcentage de cas qui ne concordent pas strictement avec la définition du recensement de 1951. Cela a particulièrement influé sur les chiffres de 1951 concernant les appartements et les plain-pied. Une partie de l'augmentation du nombre d'appartements et de plain-pied, du recensement de 1941 à celui de 1951, est sans doute attribuable à cette nouvelle interprétation.
